A KENTUCKY HORBOR.

The Skeleton of a Boy Found. The evidence of a most borrible murder has just been unearthed in Lewis County, Kentucky, on Montgomery Creek, a small stream which empties into the Ohio River. A man by the name of Roberts took up his residence on this stream last September at a point about ten miles above Vanceburg and about a mile and a saif back from the river. This stranger never impressed the community avorably, and was regarded as a dishonest, if not desperate, charac-ter. Soon after he located here, two lads applied to him for employment and a home, the older of whom, a boy about thirteen, he retained. While this white lad was living with Roberts, he crossed over the river and captured and brought from a corufield on the Ohio side a little tated; chronic and panuful diseases cured over the river and captured and brought from a cornfield on the Ohio side a little colored orphan boy about ten years of age. Soon after this event, the white lad disappeared. Most of Roberts' impulsively mediate neighbors suspected foul play, mediate neighbors suspected foul play, yet without evidence they were com-pelled to receive the story of Roberts that the boy had run away. A gentle-man, Mr. W. H. Ingles, made a proposi-tion to investigate, but his neighbors intimidated by lears for their own safe-ty refused to act with him and he rety, refused to act with him, and he re-mained quiet, feeling that time would draw the veil.

Nine months had passed away, and still the boy had not come to light, and during these nine months the neighbor-hood was constantly losing by their eat-ile, hogs, sheep, chickens, vegetables, etc. Among the sufferers from these depredations was Mr. Woodworth, who lives at Boone Landing, about three-quarters of a mile from Roberts' place, A few days since Mr. woodworth. A few days since Mr. woodworth was visited by the colored boy who had all this time been living with Roberts, and he promised to divulge secrets of inter-est to him and others if they would insure him protection. Receiving assur-ance that he should receive no harm, he proceeded to charge Roberts with nu-merous thetts, among others the steat-ing of several hogs and a heifer from Mr. Woodworth. He also charged Rob-I Road, was injured severely while ex-amining the air-brake on his train last for fear the latter would tell that he has stolen Mr. Woodworth's heifer.

In verification of his statements he indicated a spot in or near Roberts premises where a sycamore stick would be found driven in the ground, and around it leaves and brush heaped. Upon visiting the spot and removing the leaves and brush, the skeleton of the white boy was found. The boy also pointed out the spot where the stolen heifer had been butchered.

The boy states that Reports was inhumanly crued to the white boy, beating him almost to death on several occa-sions; and all his attempts to escape were in vain, each time he would be caught and returned to more brutal treatment than before. The colored lad also suffered the same trea ment at his hands, and was driven by a cruel beating to make the above effort to escape. It berts was immediately arrested and taken to Vanceburg Jail, where he is guarded by forty armed men to prevent the consummation of a threatened by the statement of t lynching. Notwithstanding these preare being perfected for forcibly taking and hanging the prisoner. Roberts' wife has also been arrested on suspicion o complicity. It is rumored that Roberts murdered a former wife and two daughters.

THE WHITE WHALE. He Died at 9 O'clock This Morn-

He's dead. The third and last white whale, that arrived about 9 o'clock last Sunday morning at the Lookout House, died this morning at exactly 9 o'clock.

About an hour before the time of his dissolution Mr. J. L. Harper approached the immense receptacie in which the whale had sported for five days, and noticed that his majesty was disturbed.

and frisking uneasily in the water.

Mr. Harper became at once cogn zant of the fact that the nour of the whale's death was at hand. He notified Mr. A. A. Siewart, and then got into the tank The whate began to lash the water fiercely, but finally Mr. Harper was able to approach him

He tound that a thick impenetrable coating of slime had settled upon the skin of the whale. He rubbed as much off as possible, and found that the whale enjoyed this treatment immensely. For the space of over half an hour he began to rush around the tank in his usual good spirits, but all of a sudden he made a plunge to the bottom, and when he again came to the surface he remained motionless. He was a dead whale.

The running water was immediately stopped, and part of the contents of the tank let out. It seems that the whale's death is due

BANK OF ENGLAND NOTES. A London paper of recent date says Few of the persons who handle Bank of England notes ever think of the amount of labor and ingenuity that is expended on their production. These notes are made from pure white linen cuttings only, never from rags that have been worn. They have been manufac-tured for nearly 200 years at the same spot—Laverstoke, in Hampshire, and by the same family—the Portals, who are descended from some French Protestant refugees. So carefully is the paper prepared that even the number of dips into the pulp made by each workman is registered on a dial by machinery, and the sheets are carefully clared bankrupts, and that a warrant of strong whose hands they pass. The secure issue to take possession of their printing is done by a most curious pass.

printing is done by a most curious process in Mr. Coe's department within the bank building. There is an elaborate arrangement for securing that no note shall be exactly like any other in existence. Consequently, there never was a duplicate of a Bank of England note except by forgery. It has been stated that the stock of paid notes for seven years is about 94,000,000 in number, and tuey fill 18,000 boxes which, it placed side by side, would reach three miles. The notes placed in a pile would be eight miles high, or if joined end to end, would form aribbon 15,000 miles long; their superficial extent is more than that of Hyde Park; their original value was £3,000,000,000, and their weight over

DITMAN'S SEA SALT. ${f D}$ M N

For Producing a Real Sea Bath at Home by Simply Dissolving this Salt in Ordinary Water. The exhibarating effect of a Sea Bath is well known. It acts as a tonic, a remedial agent, and as a preventive from disease. In a word, it commends itself to the Medical Profession as an admirable adjunct in preserving and attaining perfect Health and Strength. It braces the system up to withstand physical and mental fatigue and the effects of disease without giving any unpleasant feeling, but making, even in the liberation by the use of Ditman's Sea Salt, which is without the organic impurities of the serf, a pleasure and desirable luxury. A Circular issued by the Manufacturer, Mr. A. J. Ditman, Chemist, is well worthy of perusal, and can be obtained on application.

By simply disrolving DITMAN'S
SEA SALT in ordidinary water,

As a remedial agent for children too weak to be taken to the sea shore, and for adults in a like condition, it is especially worthy of the attention of the Medical Profession everywhere. To premote the appetite, give tone to the muscles, and increase the capability of physical and mental fatigue, as well as a corrective for persons of a cachectic taint, it will be found a valuable assistant. It is PURE SEA SALT, exact tracted from the natural water, at one of the most salubrious points on the coast, by evaporation in vacuo, and put up in portable packages, at popular prices, and it can be obtained at most of the Pharmacies throughout the United States.
